Registration

If you have not contacted Jared Lloyd Photography yet to insure that there is space available for the workshop and dates that you are interested in, please do so first before completing this registration packet. Once you have confirmed an opening with us and notified us of the dates that you would like to attend, we will tentatively add your name to the roster. To make your registration and participation on the workshop official however, this packet of information must be completed and returned to us along with a deposit of 50% of the workshop fee within 14 days (2 weeks) of tentatively signing up.

Deposits

Jared Lloyd Photography requires a 50% deposit for registration of workshops. If this presents a problem for you, please do not hesitate to contact us ASAP, as we will try to work with you on this any way that we can. Due to the extraordinary amount of logistics involved in organizing and conducting these workshops and photography expeditions, all deposits are non-refundable unless we can fill your place on the workshop. If this is a concern for you, please contact us via email and we can discuss options.

Because deposits are non-refundable we highly recommend that you consider purchasing travel or trip insurance. If you have never purchased travel insurance that you will most likely be quite surprised at how affordable it really is, especially in terms of covering the cost of the workshops and expeditions we offer. As an example, for a $2,000 trip, you can typically find coverage and packages for as low as $80. Life is full of surprises and insuring your trip will offer you the peace of mind that your money and investment in a workshop is safe guarded in lieu of financial stress, illness, injury, work, or any number of other eventualities that may arise between now and the start of the trip. Insurance can help you recoup the cost of airfare, equipment rentals, workshop fees, and other money that you have spent for your trip.

If you would like more information about travel and trip insurance, please do not hesitate to contact Jared Lloyd by email at: jared@jaredlloydphoto.com

Cancellations

If you absolutely must cancel your trip, than we will work with you to try and apply the money that you have already paid to a future trip of your choice. If we are able to fill your spot on the trip that you were originally scheduled to attend than you have the choice to be refunded your money minus a small processing fee, or apply the money to a future trip. Filling your place on the workshop is the only way that we can offer you a refund. Once again, this is why it is recommended you look into travel insurance.
